New Castle High Meeting
Most Difficult For
This Afternoon

Gathered in the warmest clothing obtainable for protection against the nipping cold weather, three hundred or more enthusiastic students and townspeople, backers of New Castle high, left for Washington, Pa., aboard the Pennsylvania railroad special at 8:30 a. m. today.

New Castle meets Washington high at 2:30 this afternoon in one of the most important W. P. L. A. L. clashes of the season. Hundreds of New Castleites will witness the game.

With the team members themselves, Coach Phil Bridenbaugh, Faculty Manager Ralph Gardner and the school band on board, the seven-coach train left the depot here on time.

Probably never in the history of the high school has such a confident, peppy host of supporters ever journeyed out of town to cheer as lustily as they know how the bearers of the red and black. Group cheering echoed throughout the coaches all along the way.

Many Motor Over
Speeding overland in private automobiles were additional hundreds who chose to leave there. A state patrolman led one caravan, while others left on their own account from early morning until nearly noon.

Pennsylvania railroad officials accompanied the train to Washington and will return with the student host when the train comes back tonight. C. I. Wetmore, representing the New Castle office of the company, was in personal charge of the train.

Leaving Washington after the game tonight, the train will start (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

The increasing number of people appearing on the streets during the evening in various kinds of costumes, emphasizes the fact that Halloween is only a matter of a few days now. Masquerade parties seem to be the particular vogue at the present time.

One more week and the real hunting season of the year will open. Indications point to a great increase in the number of hunters due to the fact that a great many men are only working part time and will have more time to devote to this thrilling sport.

Alfred B. Vogan of Park avenue, was among the first automobile owners in the city to receive his 1931 license plates. Mr. Vogan sent in his application card as soon as he received it last week, and was rewarded by the receipt of his license tags on Monday. They bear a low number in the twenty thousands.

The present weather is quite a contrast to that of a year ago, when the temperature stood around 74 degrees. There was a heavy rain on October 24, last year, almost an inch and a half rainfall being recorded in 24 hours. Local farmers would give almost anything for a downpour like that just now.

Although we had snow flurries early in the week, they melted as fast as they fell. This morning a wintry aspect greeted New Castle citizens when they looked out the window. Snow which started falling around midnight, stayed on the ground.

While there is no game at the Taggart stadium today, there is plenty of football in this district for the most ardent fans. New Castle (Continued On Page Two)

Watt Post Takes Up Traditions Of Noted Battery B

Ceremony Takes Place At Mt. Jackson High On Friday Night

THREE VETERANS
ATTEND AFFAIR

David Needler, Only Battery
Survivor, Unable To Be Present

"We must carry on the traditions and history of the noble men who went out from this district in the three wars," said Judge James A. Chambers Friday evening as he addressed the assembly in the Mt. Jackson high school when the traditions and history of Battery B were handed down to the members of the Watt post of the American Legion. C. F. Ball was chairman of the program and the Mt. Jackson high school orchestra furnished the music throughout the evening. To the strains of a hymn march, the members of Watt post with Commander Kenney at the head, marched down the aisle and took their places on the platform, with three veterans of the Civil war as guests of honor—N. Ayers, James Elder and D. M. Clark.

Judge Speaks.
Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church invoked the divine blessing on the assembled group and C. F. Ball then took the meeting in charge, introducing Judge James A. Chambers who addressed the post and audience on "Patriotism". He said that it was an obligation of the people of this community to carry on the traditions of the past, calling attention to the type of men who had gone out in the Civil war, the Spanish-American war and the World war.

One of the greatest perils of today is the indifference of the citizens," he said, citing examples in regard to elections, saying that frequently less than 50 per cent of the eligible voters go to the polls and then it is not always the upright and substantial citizens who do vote. He urged the citizens of the community to rouse themselves to their duties to the country.

Needler Not Present.

Judge Chambers then read the document prepared by David Needler, aged 90, the only surviving member of the old Battery B and who was unable to attend the meeting Friday evening on account of poor health. In his paper Mr. Needler bequeathed the traditions and history of Battery B to the Watt post of the American Legion of Mt. Jackson and asked them to carry on the work so nobly begun by their ancestors. During the reading of the paper Mrs. Lydia Ammon, a daughter of Mr. Needler, arose and represented her father in the ceremony (Continued On Page Two)

If Chambers of Commerce give some workers a job instead of some speaker a dinner there would be no unemployment.

There has been more "optimism" talked and less practiced than at any time during our history. Every millionaire we have, has offered a speech instead of keeping still, and offering a job.

Our optimism is all at a banquet table, where everybody there has more than they can eat.

Fred Fabian, New Castle high school football star, who was hurt in scrimmage Thursday night, underwent an operation in the New Castle hospital last evening, where it was found that his injuries were of a serious nature, a vein leading from the kidney having been ruptured and the kidney itself bruised.

Officials at the hospital this morning stated that his condition was fair, but that the results of the operation could not be determined for some time.

The effects of the operation have not as yet worn off and it will be a matter of several hours until his true condition can be determined. Local high school football followers unite in hoping that he will recover from the effects of his injuries.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Congressional demands for slashing of governmental "red tape" to speed public building activities are being served upon the administration, it was learned today.

The demands are accompanied by declarations that the preliminary activities in highway construction and public building are so involved that there cannot be adequate expansion under the present system to greatly relieve the employment situation.

Already there are indications that marked changes may be made to expedite public works. The Department of Justice, it is understood, has decided to employ local attorneys to speed disposition of hundreds of suits to quit title to land purchased for new post offices.

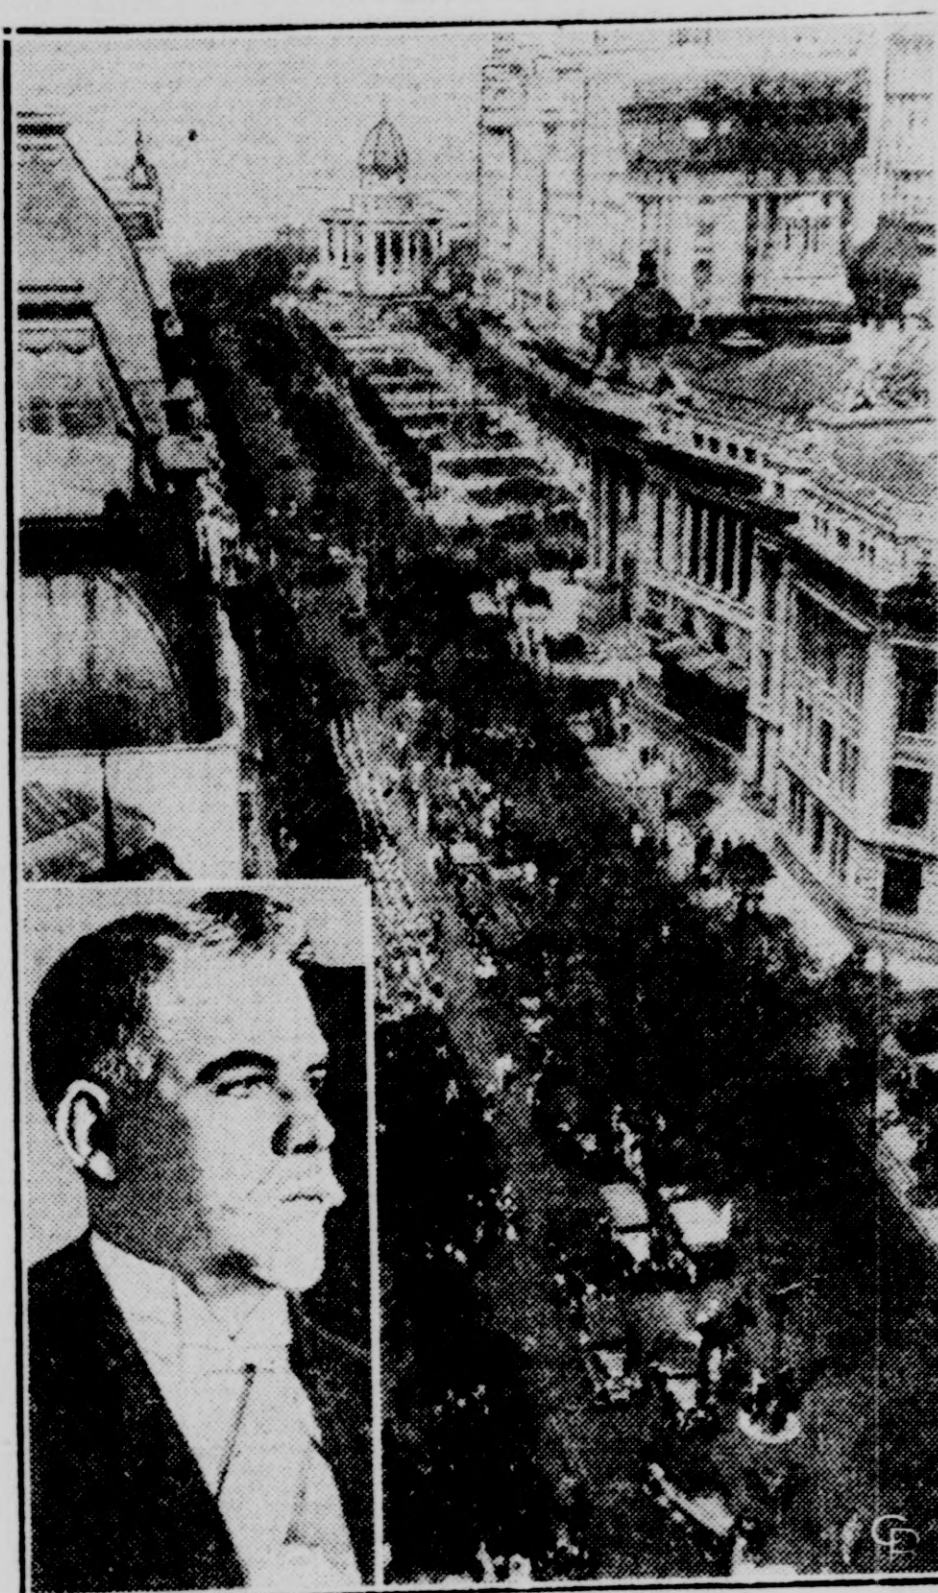

Senator Otto F. Glenn, Republican, of Illinois, has formally requested Secretary of Commerce La Follette and Postmaster General Brown to take action to this end.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A campaign to have industry pledge itself that no employees will be released because of the depression until the unemployment crisis is past, is under consideration by the president's emergency committee for employment, it was learned today. The government has virtually committed itself to release no employee in the emergency.

Industrial leaders will be expected in any event to do their part toward restoring employment to a normal basis by continuing their present working forces without regard to the effect the depression has on production. They will be expected to "carry on" and any sacrifice such a policy might cause, to consider it their contribution to the general economic welfare.

Bessemer's new athletic field, which will be also used as a playground, was dedicated Friday afternoon with appropriate exercises in the auditorium of the Bessemer high school. The field which is situated immediately south of the high school, once was what the spokesmen termed as a "dump" but it was all trace of the "dump" has been obliterated and there is no escaping the fact that the hustling borough where smoke belches forth day and night, typifying employment, now has a field of which many cities could be proud.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Twenty persons were killed and 35 injured when the Hamburg-American Line Steamer Baden was shelled by Fort Chaopachana, near Rio De Janeiro, according to a message received by the German foreign office from its minister to Brazil today. The foreign office was advised the Baden was struck as it was leaving the harbor of Rio De Janeiro, bound for Buenos Aires.

Among the victims, the message declared, were former members of the deposed government of President Washington Luis, who were attempting to escape aboard the Baden following rebel seizure of the capital.

The German government immediately wireless its representatives for more detailed information. According to reports here, the majority of the passengers aboard the Baden were Spanish immigrants bound for the Argentine.

The master of the Baden reported the incident to the head offices of the Hamburg-American Line at Hamburg, stating the Baden immediately turned to port with her flag at half-mast.

It was reported the shot had been fired merely as a warning, but that it accidentally had struck the vessel. The large number of casualties was believed due to the fact the majority of passengers were (Continued On Page Two)

Man And Woman Are Arraigned In Slaying Of Girl

(International News Service)

DENVER, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin, 30 year old blond "woman of iron nerves" and her brother-in-law, Frank O'Loughlin, are scheduled to appear in two different branches of criminal court here today for arraignment on charges of first degree murder in connection with the slaying of the woman's ten year old stepchild, Leona.

John M. Keating, chief of counsel for Mrs. O'Loughlin, said early today that he planned to ask for a continuance of the hearing for his client.

Keating vehemently denied that Mrs. O'Loughlin had made any confession of the brutal slaying of her precious stepchild.

The president is full of prunes, the King of England too, and governors are out of gear, and things have gone askew. And as I heard the old man croak, I closed the open door, and said it seems to me old pot. I've heard that plant before. Some years ago there was a war, and at that time you said, the world was promptly going to be murdered in its bed. A little later when it seemed that peace had galloped back, you saw the market go kerflop and said we're on the rack. But stocks came back and things looked up and things again were gay, but now you're like the weather, forty one today. But things will change, the sun will shine, the world will once more joke, but Old Man Watt will sit around, and croak and croak and croak.

Temporary Halt In Merger Suit

Attorneys For Both Sides
Take Much Needed Rest
Over Week-End

WILL RESUME ON MONDAY MORNING

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 25.—The spectacular fight being waged in common pleas court here over the billion-dollar injunction suit to enjoin the merger of Bethlehem Steel corporation with Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, had come to a temporary halt today, as attorneys for the opposing sides who are making their closing arguments in the case, took advantage of the two-day week-end adjournment for a much needed rest.

On Monday the battle for and against the consolidation of the two large steel concerns, the second stage of which began this week with the opening of the final arguments, will be resumed before Judge David G. Jenkins.

Defense Attorney Frederick H. Wood of Chicago, who was the first of the legal counsel for the promoter group to take the floor, will continue his argument in behalf of Bethlehem interests. He is expected to complete his statements in the Monday morning session.

Wood's argument so far largely has been a denial that the merger of Sheet & Tube with Bethlehem was perpetrated with fraud, as charged by the plaintiffs, and that Henry C. Dalton of the Pickands, Mather & Co., Cleveland, who negotiated the merger, was involved in any unscrupulous deals.

The attorney termed the charges of the Cyrus S. Eaton legal staff that Dalton was selfishly interested in uniting the two companies because he was a director in Pickands, Mather & Co., as "absurd and shameful."

Termed Disgrace.
"It is a disgrace that these charges should have been made," Wood declared.

Wood maintained that Dalton urged a Sheet & Tube officer to try and obtain a 1.4 to 1.0 ratio in regard to the exchange terms for stock between Bethlehem and Sheet & Tube, instead of the 1.33 to 1.0 agreement which was finally reached by the two concerns.

The aggregate par value of Sheet & Tube stock held by the six directors who recommended the merger contract was $10,000,000, Wood said. The attorney then asked that it be "renewed within the bounds of reason" that the directors would sacrifice such an interest in Sheet & Tube "to save $20,000 in commission and fees for Pickands, Mather & Co.?"

Earlier in his argument, Wood spent considerable time in refuting the charges of fraud which were made by the plaintiffs attorneys in connection with the negotiations of the merger contract. He argued that the charges of constructive fraud, preferred by the merger opponents, should not be considered by the court and outlined for Judge Jenkins six reasons why the charges should not be given consideration.

Wood declared that Eaton and his associates, who had been outwitted in the merger deal, had no right to bring the suit to fight the merger.

WATT POST TAKES

She was presented with a gold coin on behalf of the post, to be her father as a memento from the post.

Commander Kenney of the post then spoke briefly, accepting the benediction and expressed the appreciation of the post for the honor bestowed upon them and they would try and carry on the wishes and hand down to history as clear a record as that established by the Battery B men during 61-63. Rev. H. Davidson then offered a prayer.

Adjutant Speaks.
Adjutant Simpson of the post was then introduced and gave a splendid address on "The American Legion," telling of its origin and their program as a national, state and a community organization, telling that at present there are a million and a quarter legionnaires in the United States and he congratulated the Watt post on their new charters in the K. of P. home in Mt. Jackson and also on the organization of the auxiliary, which attended the meeting in a body.

Mrs. Alvin Ferris called the roll of Battery B and only one name was responded to, that of David Needer, the only surviving member and his daughter answered for him. "Taps" were then sounded by the post bugler and the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner" followed by "Hail Columbia" and the meeting was closed with Rev. Robert Hamill pronouncing the benediction.

A hat manufacturing company also conducted a number of millinery departments in women's wear stores in different cities. In one of these stores the company had a certain young woman as manager whom it desired to transfer to another city where the company was to open a new department. A contract, therefore, was drawn up agreeing to employ the manager at a specified salary for a stated time as manager of the new department. The young woman signed the contract and went to the new city, but after two weeks in her capacity as manager there, the young woman was superseded by a new manager, yet was requested to remain in the department as sales clerk at the same salary. For this the erstwhile manager could see no reason. So she filed suit for her salary to the expiration of the contract. At the trial the manager argued that there was practically no difference in the two kinds of employment as the manager also acted as a clerk.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

in flowing gowns and the men in magnificent uniforms, was sufficient to make the ceremony a thing of impressive splendor.

Ancient Church.
The religious ceremony was performed by Father Rizzo, custodian of the Franciscan community and rector of the ancient church, built in the year 1228 and beneath whose stone flagging the bones of St. Francis of Assisi still rest. Because it was the most commodious as well as the most beautiful, the "upper church" of the edifice was chosen for the ceremony, its graceful arches, frescoed by the Italian master Giotto, furnishing a magnificent background.

The favored guests had taken their places in the church half an hour before the royal procession entered. The usual mass was dispensed with because of the fact it was a mixed marriage. Papal dispensation had to be obtained for the union as Boris is a member of the Bulgarian Orthodox faith while Princess Giovanna is a Roman Catholic.

Bride is 22.
Both the king and the 22-year-old princess answered Father Rizzo's traditional questions in a clear, unflinching voice. Throughout the ceremony the choir softly chanted the "Laudes Creaturarum," composed by St. Francis himself in 1225 and set to music by Father Stella of the Franciscan order, who conducted the choir.

Owing to exceedingly limited space in the mellowed old church as well as inadequate accommodations in Assist itself, the guests were restricted to Italian authorities and official personages; even the families of court attaches and personal friends of the youthful queen had to forego the privilege of witnessing the ceremony.

DEDICATE NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

the auditorium where they listened to several numbers by the school orchestra. Professor H. J. Colton, principal of the high school, was chairman of the dedication committee and described the efforts which had resulted in a field—one of which the borough could be proud.

He told of the cooperation of the various bodies in Bessemer which worked toward that end and called upon P. W. Griffin, president of the school board, who said: "We have met here to celebrate an event which we have looked forward to. We have had good schools but an excuse' as a field and the boys did not have a fair shake when they practiced for athletic contests. "Through the cooperation of the school board, the borough council and the Boosters club we now have a field and one of which we do not need feel ashamed."

Montgomery Speaks.
Carl Montgomery, president of the Boosters club, followed and said he was glad to take part in the dedication as Bessemer now has a field in keeping with its schools. "We believe that a good citizen is one who will take part in anything that will aid his country, state or community. No community has done its duty which has not provided good churches, good schools and good streets."

"Sometime ago we took an inventory of Bessemer. We found we had good churches, good schools and good streets but discovered we had no good place for children to play and it wasn't long before cooperative efforts transferred a 'what not' into a good field and playground."

Carl Hoover, captain of Shenango football team; Coach Johnston of Shenango; Charles Grist, captain of Bessemer, and Coach Fredricks of Bessemer followed with short addresses in which they praised the various officials for making the new field possible. Coach Fredricks thanked them.

Al Eales, a member of the Bessemer borough council, told how in ages past the woods were a vast playground but declared times have changed and it is on athletic fields that cooperation is bred. He said Bessemer's future athletic requirements can be developed on the new field and said that cooperation, so vital in industry, can be instilled on such fields.

Dr. Green Speaks.
Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of New Castle public schools, declared that "Bessemer is on the right road, and I come here to bring you greetings from New Castle where we build playgrounds and athletic fields at the expense of the public and where recreation and athletics are encouraged."

"I want to say that your organizations deserve praise. They have done something to be remembered. It has opened a new vista. We do not have to teach the boys and girls to play because that is a God-given instinct but we need to provide the facilities where the play spirit can be developed in a proper manner."

Dr. Green warned that the men and the women should not forget the play spirit. He said he had lived his entire life almost within a 50-mile radius of New Castle and had seen the development of athletics in this section. He said he was a charter member of the W. P. I. A. L. and gave an insight into opposition of athletics in days gone by.

"I remember four stages in western Pennsylvania," remarked Dr. Green. "I can remember when athletics were opposed by the schools and by most parents. Athletics were considered an evil and a great many men and women were active in their opposition."

"The second stage was that the 'schools endured athletics as a necessary evil' and the third proved the turning point," according to Green, who explained it consisted of "boosters" organizations—men and women who organized to encourage athletics."

The fourth stage, the educator explained, came by the taking over of playgrounds and athletics and which have been made a part of the school system.

Green said the playground and athletic field brings the community together and if it does it in this, it will cause them to get together in other things.

He said the playgrounds and fields may teach character as long as they are conducted on a high plane. He warned against allowing the fields and playgrounds to degenerate into a tool for professional sports.

Green declared this would not build character. "They must belong to you. Let us perpetuate the play spirit," he declared.

The educator said: "Try to develop athletics for all who are able to participate then you will get all the support. Every pupil is entitled to the best training possible. I felicitate you on your playground and athletic field."

Following the exercises the Bessemer and Shenango teams lined up and when the game was over Bessemer had won 13 to 0, thus dedicating their new field with a victory. Harrisville plays Saturday at the latter place next Sunday. Harrisville has a strong team.

CONSIDER PLAN OF

such a campaign might gain momentum if some industries show a willingness to adopt such a policy. In a measure the "staggered employment" idea accomplishes in part what the committee is working on—give as many people jobs as possible, but officials recognize this entails a sacrifice by those more fortunate workers still employed.

The committee is being deluged with letters from job hunters, some cranks with cure-all suggestions, and many who have something sound to offer. All are being read, and those containing suggestions that appear to be worthy are being considered for what they are worth. Col. Arthur Woods, chief of the government's employment forces, has adopted a policy of giving attention to all letters.

STAR LORE
IF IT HAD ONLY BEEN TRUE
By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

In the year 1835 a New York newspaper published a great hoax story about life on the moon. The story was featured as coming from the observations of Sir John Herschel who, it was claimed, had set up a great telescope of 24 feet aperture (opening), at the Cape of Good Hope, in South Africa. This story told of strange trees, and of flying men having the most remarkable habits of life. The most remarkable statements for several days, resulting in getting the readers very much excited, and at the same time building up a tremendous circulation for the newspaper. So excited became the people that nearly all other subjects were forgotten.

Hemphill took occasion again to deny he had made any "patronage alliance" with the Philadelphia Republican organization that backed Pinchot. On the contrary, the Democratic nominee insisted there has been and will be "no deal on patronage."

Even as the candidates hammered away at each other, the figure of Senator Joseph R. Grundy, so-called "grand-daddy of all lobbyists" in Washington, was thrust further into the campaign until his support of Pinchot threatens to become an issue. Both Liberal and Democratic leaders have directed attacks at Grundy because "he Joe" is praising Pinchot after having denounced him frequently in the past.

From Rochester the New Castle cars were to follow route 51 to Carnot. The trail next led through the William Penn and Lincoln highways, routes 22 and 30, to Carnegie. The trip to Washington was to be made from Carnegie on route 19.

FAREWELL PARTY HONORS SAM LEWIS

The green room of the Y. W. C. A. was the rendezvous of the choir of the First M. E. church on Friday evening when covers were laid for 40 guests at a farewell dinner in honor of Sam Lewis, who is leaving the First M. E. choir to accept a position as tenor soloist at the First Christian church.

The green room was decorated in Halloween colors which color scheme was carried out in the menu. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and tall orange tapers in black candle holders. The places were marked with cleverly designed cards with appropriate poetry for each guest and a hunt pursued for each place at the table under a dim candle light. Favors of snappers containing paper hats were also given the guests.

A unique program was carried out by the committee in charge, which consisted of broadcasting stunts with Elizabeth Harvard as announcer. The first number on the program was a welcome song followed by a Boo-hoo chorus with Mary Harvard as soloist. Next a duet by Helen Queen Baum and Prof. W. W. Campbell entitled "I Only Asked to Marry You." This was followed by a number entitled "Chivalry" and the concluding number, "Around the Corner to First M. E." sung by the chorus. REBEKAH CHAPTER ENJOYS MASQUERADE

The assembly room of the new First United Presbyterian church took on a weird and grotesque aspect Friday evening as characters of all kinds assembled in the room, which beforehand had been artistically decorated with corn shocks, autumn leaves, witches, black cats, goblins and ghosts by Charles McNickle and his committee, when they gathered for a Halloween party under the auspices of the Rebekah chapter.

The entertainment was skillfully handled by the members of the Married People's class under the direction of Mrs. Ed Bellard and spooky games of various kinds and Halloween tricks and stunts filled in the hours, which passed all too quickly.

The judges had a hard time deciding on the best costumes and it resulted in a tie between J. M. Carpenter and Floyd Lortz. Upon unmasking a great deal of merriment ensued when they found who each one was.

THIS WOULD END WAR

A UNIVERSITY head has made the revolutionary proposition that government in the future protect youth by drafting only men past 50 for combatant troops in time of war.

In theory there is much to be said for his proposal. The idea of making cannon fodder of young men, upon whom the future of nations depends, is not altogether sensible, particularly when it is remembered that wars are always started by men over 50 years of age. Is not young blood more essential to national progress?

There would be no more wars if the nations of the world would enter into a pact making men under 50 exempt from military service. There will never be such a pact because all pacts, including those sending millions of young men to horrible deaths, are made by men over 50. But if such a pact were possible, the men over 50 would quickly declare permanent world peace. Persons who must fight their own battles prefer to talk peace.

Of course the proposal could not be put to practical use. Youth is better able to stand up under the rigors of war; it can fight better and it succumbs less readily to disease and fatigue. In time of war nations and their old men depend upon youth. While youth fights, suffers and dies, the men past 50 are claiming the honors and profiteering.

CASH OR CREDIT?

The statement that $7,500,000,000 annually is lost in bad accounts by department stores, specialty shops and other retail dealers is one that is of vital concern to all of us. For naturally the customers whose credit is good and who pay their bills with reasonable promptness must eventually make up, at least to some extent, the losses suffered by business as a result of extending credit where it is not deserved.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is satisfied as a result of its inquiry into the subject that the indiscriminate extension of credit is responsible for a large number of stores winding up in bankruptcy. In all cases it was found that the number of losses of unsuccessful stores averaged much higher than the number of successful stores; in the former case the percentage ranged from 8 to 33, while in the latter it ran only from 1 to 26.

Retailers throughout the country are now engaged in trying to figure out whether the all cash or the credit system will be better for their particular business. One school of thought insists that the all cash plan is the better one in the long run, while another is inclined to believe that the credit system pays in spite of losses. Many people, it is argued by those belonging to this latter school, buy things on credit, and ultimately pay for them, which they would not buy at all if compelled to pay cash. That is undoubtedly true, as far as it goes. Credit experts are studying the figures in an effort to arrive at some basis of judgment upon which to form a correct conclusion. Upon the results of their inquiry depend the eventual decision as to whether business shall continue to extend credit freely and indiscriminately to all who seek it, or whether there shall be material curtailment of credits. Certainly, the fact that bad credits are responsible for an annual loss of $7,500,000,000 would argue that the credit method has been followed unwisely and recklessly by many merchants in the desire to take business away from their competitors.

All stores, it should be explained, have credit men who are in charge of the matter of extending credit to customers. When credit is asked the customer is usually referred to the credit man, who interviews him with a view to ascertaining his income, the amount of property he owns, and his general credit standing. In spite of the efforts to confine the extension of credit to those who merit it, the bad debts of the country amount to billions every year. The Department of Commerce in its survey of 23,779 retail establishments, finds losses on credit accounts amounting to a large percentage of business done.

In recent years tradesmen have got into the habit of extending credit to almost everyone asking for it. They are beginning to realize that this policy, temporarily advantageous, is a highly dangerous one and they are now debating among themselves ways and means of revising it without driving away customers. It is safe to predict that the credit system is sure to undergo rather sweeping revision in the not distant future.—The Roanoke Times.

UNFOUNDED CRITICISM

Critics of the American plan of education in general and the college in particular claim that colleges long ago ceased to be gateways to the learned professions alone; that a majority of the men in a liberal arts school of today will become business men, not lawyers and doctors and ministers; that much of the liberal arts course is obviously wasted on such men because they are in college not to get culture, not to learn how to think, not to learn how to find out about things, but because college training is expected of a man, because college contacts are valuable, because later on a man must be able to do business with college men on an equal footing.

There are such undergraduates, but they are not the intellectual pick of the nation, nor do they lay any claims to that title. They commonly excel in the depreciation of scholarship and in the glorification of what are known as outside activities. They win no prizes for scholarship and they are graduated without distinction, but they usually manage to get temporary hold of enough book knowledge to get through four years without distinction or dishonor.

But all this is no indictment of the college. Every student does not get all he might out of his education but all get something. No critic of the present arrangements can tell how many embryonic Babbits carry away from their four carefree undergraduate years a leaven of culture, a disposition not to despise learning even while not embracing it. It may be good for the sheep and the goats to be together.

HOW DEWEY'S STAR SHONE AND PALED

Gen. Weyler's death is a reminder of the fact that the popular American hero of the war with Spain had nothing to do with Cuba. Admirals Sampson and Schley and General Wood—to say nothing of Theodore Roosevelt—filled every eye that looked in that direction, but the unfortunate quarrel between the partisans of Schley and the partisans of Sampson clouded the issue to some extent. There was none to dispute the laurels of Admiral Dewey.

The Battle of Manila and its attending episodes captured the imagination of the country, and Dewey came home to receive one of the greatest ovations ever offered to any American. Yet before he died his fame had dimmed. He was not wholly to blame. Some part of his eclipse must be ascribed to the fickleness of the public. Many of our heroes have suffered from this cause.

The unemployment problem for many is how to keep that way. Unquestionably the first anti-bob agitator in history was Sampson.

Alcohol Kills Too Many.
Those Queer Russians.

Thomas McCarter, head of New Jersey's Public Service Corporation, voluntarily reduces street car fares, abolishing the 10-cent "casual rate," and doing away with compulsory purchase of "tokens." This is news, because it is so unusual.

Nevertheless, those that are fairly old remember that the Manhattan Railroad in New York made no money while it charged 10 cents, and made plenty of money when it reduced the fare to five cents.

Dr. Irving S. Cutler, dean of the Northwestern University Medical School, develops this theory. Eons of years back, which means billions of years, ultra violet rays were much more powerful than they are now, and they "activated" protoplasm into life.

That's how life came.

The doctor does not tell us what activated the living protoplasm into THOUGHT, emotion, art, imagination.

Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, finds a sensible way of unloading some of the wheat that the government bought to stabilize the price that wouldn't stay stabilized, and his unloading will help, not hurt farmers.

He will stabilize it by feeding it to the hungry. An excellent idea, and the wheat will be worth all that the government paid for it, no matter what the price per bushel.

Roman soldiers carried raw wheat in a bag, and chewed it as they marched. Their skulls show teeth in wonderful condition, much worn down.

Our citizens will hardly learn to chew raw wheat on the march, hunting for jobs.

Since 1920 and under prohibition, deaths from alcohol in the United States have increased 300 per cent, according to Dr. Hoffman, statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance company.

It is particularly unpleasant to read that deaths from alcohol have increased among women especially. And it is surprising to read that in the United States under prohibition, deaths caused by alcohol are more than 1,000 per cent more numerous than in a majority of the civilized countries. No civilized country has more than 10 per cent of our deaths from that cause.

Vergil After 20 Centuries Looms As Glorious Figure

Great Latin Poet's Anniversary Causes World To Pause With Recollections Of His Influence On Material Affairs And On Language

On the 2,000th anniversary of the Latin poet Vergil, he is declared by the NEW ORLEANS ITEM to be "perhaps even more alive at this time than he was in the flesh," because "his works are more widely read than they were even when he was at the height of his first fame in ancient Rome." American comment puts emphasis on the fact that while this writer wanted his work to be burned, as he believed it lacked perfection, it has greatly influenced the development of thought and language. He is placed among the giants.

"Like Shakespeare, like Dante, and like all truly great writers throughout the ages, the stinger of 'Arms and the man' wrote not for his own brief period alone, but for all time," says the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE. The UTICA OBSERVER-DISPATCH testifies that "those who hold the Latin poets in high esteem have always loved Vergil"; that "after the establishment of Christianity, Constantine the Great accepted his Fourth Eclogue as a prophecy"; and that "when Dante made his famous visit to Purgatory, he chose Vergil as his guide."

"How many, remembering school days, when they read Caesar's Commentaries before 'tackling' the Aeneid," suggests the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "will voice an opinion it is the latter which remains in the mind, and even above the eloquence of Cicero! Praise a large domain, cultivate a small state," wrote Vergil 2,000 years ago, and in that there may be a thought for Mussolini! The Tribune declares "there have been mightier geniuses, but he lives in more hearts and minds."

"He saw the majesty of man and was filled with sadness that life is so fleeting and so crowded with frustration," thinks the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, with a tribute to the poet's message as "of definite value to the world today."

That paper continues: "His sense of the illusion of life, the dignity of man struggling against overwhelming odds to conquer nature and himself, gives his work a philosophical interest which never ceases to attract the thoughtful. It is Vergil the philosopher who has put his thoughts into perfect poetry who lives and is celebrated today. He is loved for the piety, the gravity and the sweetness of his view of life. Farmers should make him their patron saint, for he spent seven years on his Georgics, a manual of farming, written in some of the most beautiful poetry ever penned. The Georgics illustrated Vergil's nature; he saw the dignity of farming, as he saw the dignity of all of the common tasks by which man must live, and he strove to show its nobility and the satisfaction the farmer may take in his close relationship with nature."

Lamenting the abandonment of farms, the COLUMBIA STATE looks upon the great cities "trying in vain to shelter and feed the millions of a starving, motley, city-frenzied population" and adds: "Vergil, on his father's farm and on his own, and in his magnificent singing poetry, dedicated to the tillers of the soil, has a sharp lesson for us of the world."

"We do well to mark Vergil's bi-millenary," advises the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH. "None more than he belongs to the ages." The GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE feels that "it might surprise him to know how many high school youngsters, in spite of dull class-room routine, have got a few thrills out of the Aeneid," though he "did not write that great story for a textbook." The Press-Gazette calls him "one of the literary giants of all time."

"We would not say," according to the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "that the life and work of this poet have meant more to the world than have the invention of the steam engine, the discovery and application of the power of electricity and all the marvels and utilities of the Age of the Machine, for the values of the one are so essentially different from those of the other that it would be as pointless to compare the two as to ask whether the stars or the waves were of more moment to a wandering mariner. But we do say that no performance of our industrial age, no heaping up of perishable wealth counts for a title as much in the progress of the human spirit as the fact that Vergil's poetry still is read and his memory still cherished."

"Perfection was his aim. Perfect was his accomplishment. And now he lives after 2,000 years," proclaims the MILWAUKEE JOURNAL and the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS remarks: "Fortunately for the memory of Vergil, the record is clear with regard to his life. It is not shrouded in mystery and in legend as is that of Homer or of the Greeks. Fortunately, too, the Roman emperor Augustus declined to carry out the order of the dying poet that the Aeneid be destroyed—a desire, based on a fear of imperfection in his work, that gives a keynote to the character of Vergil."

All English literature, from the time of Chaucer to the present, has exhibited evidence of the influence of Vergil," comments the WALLA WALLA BULLETIN, while the MANCHESTER UNION offers the glowing tribute: "No poet that has ever lived has exerted a wider influence upon the thought and destiny of the human race. Shakespeare left an indelible stamp upon English literature. Goethe is fitly regarded as the father of modern German literature. Dante of modern Italian. But these and other great poets of later times, who laid the foundations of the literatures of their respective peoples, may be compared to the great Roman as mighty rivers are compared to the tiny spring from which they draw a common source."

Appropriateness of the celebration of the event by the Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary College, national home of that fraternity, is recognized by the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER in the description: "The stage set with evergreens from the nearby woods of the peninsula, framed mass pictures of which Morris West would not have been ashamed. The lighting heightened every picture. Hades was portrayed in its classic conception, not as the domain of man's dark thought, but as a place of punishment for his grim misdeeds. The voices of the performers, well trained, carried with remarkable accuracy, and the pageant itself was so admirably phrased that a long speech by old Anchises held the auditors for fourteen minutes. The music, written in Williamsburg by George M. Small, and performed by the college band, deepened the illusion and was as much in the spirit of the piece as the tom-toms in 'Emperor Jones.'"

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE STRANGE HUMAN.

A Canadian railway board investigated the causes of grade crossing accidents in the Dominion during the past three years. "Inexplicable negligence" is given as the reason for 1,791 accidents.

Of these, 714 were cases of ignoring stop signals. Seventy-seven drivers actually drove under the gates while they were being lowered, and, incredible as it seems, one driver actually left his car and raised the gates after they had been lowered. Nine pedestrians climbed over or under lowered gates. Sixty-nine motorists drove into the side of moving trains, and forty-three managers to his trains that were standing still. Eight used the railway tracks as a highway.

Five considered the crossing a good place to turn a car, and one motorist stopped on the tracks and fell asleep. This was slightly more risky than the man who parked his car on the crossing and left it while he went in search of water. Another man stopped his wagon on the path of an approaching train to adjust the load.

Would you become hysterical and lose your balance in loud lamentations?

It might be a good thing to meditate in advance on what you ought to do if tried to the utmost.

A great deal depends upon whether you have always had your own way through life.

It is too bad not to have had discipline of such a character that you must stop and think and not give up to wild despair.

Fail To Solve Slaying Of Four At Braddock, Pa.

"Racket Murder" At Braddock Goes Down In Books As Unsolved Case

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—"Killed by a person or persons unknown to this jury."

That brief routine verdict was recorded in the corner's office here today, officially adding to the long list of unsolved crimes this district's most sensational shooting—the cold blooded murder of an Italian fruit store proprietor, his wife, brother and a customer in his store in Braddock on October 4, last.

Seventeen witnesses, examined at an inquest yesterday afternoon, were unable to shed any light on the "Racket Murder," believed the result of bootleg warfare.

The victims of the assassin's gunfire were Mrs. Mary Lobianco, her husband, Giuseppe, Garren Lobianco and Louis Tomadino. Giuseppe and Garren had opened a tiny fruit store in Braddock only a few weeks before the fatal shooting. Tomadino was a customer in the store at the time of the killings.

All four were shot down without warning when two killers entered the store, poured forth a deadly fire which felled the quartet and fled in a high-powered automobile.

Christian Endeavor Has Fine Fall Rally

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd Addresses The Young People In New Bedford Church

A splendid fall rally was held Thursday evening in the New Bedford Presbyterian church when the Christian Endeavor Union of Lawrence County met with most of the unions of the county represented.

Harry Wilson, county president, presided at the meeting and the devotional opening exercises were conducted by the evangelistic committee with Elmer Gaston as the leader. Howard Gilmore had the song service in charge and two splendid numbers were given by the male quartet of the committee.

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, then addressed the young people on "The School of Life" and spoke of the training of their body, mind and heart and bringing them up in the path of righteousness. His address was enthusiastically received by the young people.

A cornet duet by Henry Goughier and Dale McCurley of the Westfield church featured the program.

The banner for best record in the county was awarded to the Neshannock Presbyterian church of New Wilmington.

A social period followed the program and the ladies of the church served a delicious lunch.

Judge Frank P. Patterson Refuses Change Of Venue For E. N. Gillespie

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Judge Frank P. Patterson today had refused a change of venue sought by E. N. Gillespie, defendant in the suit brought by David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman, to recover contributions to a pool in Guffey-Gillespie.

The pool was formed in 1918 and $70,000 was contributed by Lawrence and his associates. The anticipated rise in the stock never materialized and the contributions were lost. Lawrence's suit sought recovery of the money alleging that the agreement to purchase stock outright was violated when Gillespie bought on margin.

ly gathered together the billions needed to carry through the plan. Russia does curious things. For instance, last year it distributed 12,000 tractors and $24,000,000 worth of other machinery among peasants and others.

The National income of Russia for 1930 is only 33,000,000,000 rubles, about $19,800,000,000. Yet, how much you can do with a little money. Our income is more than a hundred billions of real dollars. But if you suggested giving 12,000 tractors to anybody, you would be called, not merely bolshevistic, but insane.

Macaulay, able head of Canada's Sun Life Assurance Company, advises our federal reserve banks to buy $500,000,000 worth of good bonds, thus restoring price levels, increasing money in circulation, starting business recovery.

The Federal Reserve and Treasury Department officials say it would be "dangerous" to force currency into circulation.

The war forced currency, billions of it, into circulation. Federal reserve presses worked overtime. But somehow, everything was prosperous, at least for a while.

It is proposed to spend two hundred millions, or so, of public money, to help the unemployed. Corporations are urged to tax themselves and contribute.

But you are told there must be no "dole," none of the English system, under which government gives the minimum necessary to live, in cash, directly to those out of work.

Everybody hopes it will not be necessary to start the dole here. On the other hand if money were given direct to those that need it to be spent by themselves, that might be better than spending by committees, and avoid the unpleasant feeling of charity.

Give a woman $15 a week and somehow she will take care of herself, and four or five children. No institution can do that.

Agitation continues about Britain's attitude toward Jerusalem and Palestine generally. Jews denounce Britain's labor government for not living up to its "mandate" and conspicuous Jews resign positions in Zionism as a protest.

Dr. Holmes, clergyman of the Community Church in New York, urges Palestine Jews to unite with the Arabs in a war of passive resistance against the British government along the lines of Gandhi's passive resistance in India.

But conditions are different. In India, Gandhi resists tax collection. In Palestine, the British don't collect, they spend millions a year on their mandate, keeping Arabs from murdering Jews. A combination of Arabs and Jews for passive resistance might persuade Britain's Labor government to drop the mandate and say, "run the country yourselves."

With Arabs outnumbering Jews 19 to one that would be dangerous.

George L. Cassidy, known to many a "dry" congressman as "the man in the green hat," has decided to write his memoirs for the past 10 years.

What he writes will not please some congressmen. The man in the green hat has been bootlegger-in-chief to members of Congress. He declares that "a majority of both houses" depended on him for their bootleg supplies. And they drank it under the dome of the Capitol. (Copyright, 1930, King Features Synd., Inc.)

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS"

KEEPING THE BULGE OUT OF BILL FOLDS
Crying when laughter is in order.

Listening to the sobstuff of n'er-do-wells who sing the blues as an alibi to get out of work.

Hobnobbing with pessimists.

Pinching a nickle till the buffalo dies. Pulling back when a little pushing ahead is all that is necessary to start the ball rolling.

Forgetting and otherwise overlooking the fact that what was isn't, and what is will cease to be.

Holding a nickle so close to the eye that you can't see the big round dollars that are within easy reach. Which is just another way of saying "being so close to the picture that you can't see the frame."

Waiting to buy till the price goes up.

Preferring to be hypnotized into seeing a mirage rather than look at the plain facts.

Letting propaganda of the sore-heads rule your actions.

Allowing others with an axe to grind to do your thinking.

Saying "it can't be done" when a little investigation will prove that it has been and is being done.

Sitting around "belly aching" instead of getting out and trying.

Evading responsibility of doing something instead of taking the bull by the horns.

Becoming infected with "perversitis"—waiting, stalling and putting off doing things until you see what the other fellow is going to do instead of using your own noodle.

Come to the party! Smile, damn it, smile! You live in the best country in the world, are better off than any people in the world, have the blood of the go-gettingest go-getters in the world; so why by like the old cows tail—dragging in the dust, always behind.

Put the bulge in the old family wallet. Be careful, but don't be penny wise. You have to put to take you know, and right now is the time to put your money ON America IN American merchandise; for never in YOUR life will you be able to buy anything for the same money as you can TODAY.

Word has been received here that will interest the many friends of Rev. Guyon Golding, former pastor of St. Andrews Episcopal Church this city. This word is to the effect that the Rt. Rev. Father Golding was stationed at Camp Lee, Va., during the war. He was educated for the priesthood at Nashotah Seminary, Nashotah, Wis. Following his ordination, he became rector of St. Andrews church this city. After successfully serving the local parish for six years, he went to New York City and took up post graduate work in the General Seminary.

Evangelistic Services Will Begin Monday In The Emanuel Evangelical Church

Rev. H. L. Johnson, pastor of the Simpson Methodist church of this city is in receipt of an interesting letter from H. D. Huges, member of the colored quintette, which is so favorably known in this city and vicinity for their evangelistic work.

The quintette is now traveling in Wales, Scotland and England and they report splendid meetings wherever they have conducted evangelistic services.

On September 8 they landed in Liverpool, England and from there went to Glasgow, Scotland, where they held their first service, and the hall with a capacity of 1100 was not large enough to accommodate the crowds wishing to hear them; they then began giving two sessions an evening in order to receive all who came. From Glasgow the party went to Motherwell, Grief, Edinburgh and then had a six day campaign at Manchester, then on to Buxton and to East London.

After the East London meeting, from where the letter was written, they were booked for Belfast, Dublin and Ballymena, Ireland. They report unemployment as a great problem in the countries they are in but report they are receiving ample means to carry on their work.

John Thomas, Welsh Evangelist, and the Coloured Quintette of Cleveland, Ohio, is to find a hall large enough to accommodate the crowds drawn to hear them. Beginning in Glasgow on September 9, a hall holding 1100 soon proved too small, many failing to gain admission, and even when transferred during the last week-end to Glasgow's largest hall, where over 3000 gathered, there were literary thousands left out. Nothing quite like it has been seen. On the closing evening, called "Quintette Night," the great hall was packed an hour before the meeting was billed to start. Something like 160 seekers have been tabulated during the fortnight of their stay, but by no means does that sum up the whole effect of the campaign. Our prayers follow them as they hold meetings in the East London Tabernacle and Ireland. Unless revival breaks out in this country, the Quintette are due back in Buffalo by December 21. Mr. Thomas's message is in no way behind the singing for distinction, and we feel that God will use the combination to His own glory and to effect His loving purpose."

Highland Men In Attendance Drive

Hope To Exceed Mark Of 110 Established By Class At Session Last Fall

Members of the Men's Bible class of the Highland U. P. church are anticipating a record attendance of the class at their meeting Sunday morning, when an effort will be made to exceed the high mark of 110, established last fall.

An invitation has been extended through the mail to every member and former member of the class to be present at the session Sunday morning.

No contest has been staged this year to bring up the attendance mark, but all members of the class have been putting forth an individual effort to secure a more regular attendance of the membership, which is expected to produce results.

Rev. H. L. Johnson Returns From Fishing

Rev. H. L. Johnson, pastor of the Simpson Methodist church, has just returned from Piquette Mich., about 18 miles north of Ann Arbor, where he went on a fishing trip and visited with E. J. Berquist, formerly of this city.

Rev. Johnson reports a wonderful time and plenty of bass and pickerel biting well, but when the weather turned cold he turned to the south again.

Colored Quintette Attract Attention Travelling Abroad

Halls In Scotland, England And Ireland Not Large Enough To Accommodate Crowds

Rev. H. L. Johnson, pastor of the Simpson Methodist church of this city is in receipt of an interesting letter from H. D. Huges, member of the colored quintette, which is so favorably known in this city and vicinity for their evangelistic work.

The quintette is now traveling in Wales, Scotland and England and they report splendid meetings wherever they have conducted evangelistic services.

On September 8 they landed in Liverpool, England and from there went to Glasgow, Scotland, where they held their first service, and the hall with a capacity of 1100 was not large enough to accommodate the crowds wishing to hear them; they then began giving two sessions an evening in order to receive all who came. From Glasgow the party went to Motherwell, Grief, Edinburgh and then had a six day campaign at Manchester, then on to Buxton and to East London.

After the East London meeting, from where the letter was written, they were booked for Belfast, Dublin and Ballymena, Ireland. They report unemployment as a great problem in the countries they are in but report they are receiving ample means to carry on their work.

Game Commission Lays Down Rules

Urges Hunters of State To Observe Regulations For Better Hunting Season

Illegal Deer Hunting Results In Number of Heavy Fines Being Imposed

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—Division Game Supervisors throughout the state met at the offices of the Game Commission this week to discuss plans for the coming hunting season. Reports of game hunting were very good. Deer, too, is fairly plentiful throughout most of the state, and particularly in the north. A good crop of beechnuts reported in the northern counties. Sportsmen throughout the state are urged to cooperate in every way possible with field officers of the Commission, not only during the season but prior thereto. Already the vandal is at work, particularly the illegal deer hunter it was found. During the past few days a number of such violators have been apprehended; Game Protector G. H. Gustin of Lock Haven arrested L. G. Conner John Gaines, Samuel McGongal and Clifford McGongal for killing deer in close season and transporting same illegally. All defendants were fined $100.00 and costs; Game Refuge Keeper Max N. Ostrum apprehended Clyde Bundy and Oscar Andrews both of Keating Summit, Pa., for possessing a deer during the close season and both men were fined $100.00 and costs; Game Protector Wm. B. McClarin of Sellersburg arrested L. H. Hopkins of South Williamsport for illegally possessing venison in the close season. Mr. Hopkins being made to pay a fine of $100.00 and costs; Meredith Kinsman of Gillett was arrested by Deputy Game Protector Robt. A. Bailey of Bradford for killing a deer in the close season and fined a $100.00 and costs; and Albert Sporka of Germania was arrested by Game Protector Wm. F. Hamilton of Getleton for killing a deer out of season and fined $100.00 and costs.

Car Is Urged
Sportsman should never hesitate to report any violators of the game laws that come to their attention. It is only in this manner that the game Commission can apprehend the vandal.

Sportsmen are urged to exert every care with firearms while in the woods this year. Too many accidents occur each season.

There is no need to stress the matter of guarding against forest fires. As a general rule hunters are ever careful of fire while in the forests for they know only too well that when the cover goes the game goes.

If sportsmen will be guided by the following rules they are apt to enjoy a much better hunting season.

Don't forget, trappers, that the season for muskrats opens December 1st instead of November 1st. You may trap muskrats from December 1st to Friday 28th. For mink opossum, skunk and other, the trapping season opens November 1st and ends February 28th. Woodcock may be legally killed from October 15th to November 14th.

Don't forget to cooperate with the game protectors. Help them perpetuate your sport. Game protectors are the sportsmen's best friends.

Must Post Rosters
Don't forget, sportsmen, that the pre-season gunner is stealing your sport. Send in the license numbers of those who you see violating the game laws; that's what you call cooperation.

Don't neglect to carry a roster with you when three or more are hunting big game together. This applies to day-hunters. Those in camps must have rosters posted in the buildings.

Don't neglect to send in the stub attached to your resident hunter's license certificate giving the amount of game killed for the season. Such data helps the Board of Game Commissioners.

Don't unload your firearm in a building. Go outside and remove the loads. Always have your gun pointing toward the ground when removing the shells.

Don't get excited if you become lost in the mountains. Following the course of a stream will most always bring you out to civilization.

Don't neglect to extinguish a bon-fire before you leave it. If you can stand the cold weather, it's better not to make a fire in the woods. Put out cigars or cigarette before throwing them away.

Don't forget to count the number of deer you see while hunting; then give the information to your nearest game protector.

Don't try to kill the limit of game every time you go hunting. Leave some for the next day. Maybe your fellow hunter can't get out the same day you go afield.

Don't shoot into a flock of wild turkeys. Better to single out your bird and miss him than kill several birds with one shot and have to pay a fine. You are permitted to kill one wild turkey a season.

Don't Use Blinds
Don't get behind a blind and use a turkey call. Blinds and calls are forbidden. Anyhow it is dangerous to conceal yourself and imitate the calls of a turkey. Two men were killed last season in mistake for wild turkeys.

Don't hunt in fields where stock is grazing. Better forget that field until some other time.

Hunters who get lost and have no compass can use their watch for this purpose very easily. When the sun is shining turn the face of the watch to the sun in such position that the hour hand will point to the sun. Half way between the hour hand and twelve o'clock will then be the south point.

Offtimes hunters have run across water which appeared none too clear for drinking purposes. A practical and effective way of clarifying muddy or apparently undrinkable water is to pour two tablespoons of condensed milk in a five gallon can of water. This being heavier than water will sink to the bottom, drawing down, also, all sediment contained in the water. In a few minutes the water may be poured off, clear and fit for drinking and cooking.

Savannah Church HAS RECEPTION

As a courtesy to the pastor, Rev. W. L. Bloomquist, and his wife, the members of Savannah Methodist church held a reception Friday evening in the church to show their gratitude at the pastor's return to them for another year.

The church parlors were beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers as a background for the receiving line and Rev. and Mrs. Bloomquist greeted the members and friends as they entered. The reception was under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the church. Mrs. W. H. Weinschenk, president of the Ladies Aid gave the address of welcome and was followed by W. H. Weinschenk, representing the official board; George Body, representing the Sabbath School; Rev. C. G. Farr, representing the conference and B. J. Watkins and Frank Geiger also brought greetings.

A number of entertaining readings were given by Mrs. John Weir and Miss Badger; a vocal solo was presented by Martha Swisher, accompanied by her sister, Sarah; W. Klingensmith sang a solo and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Wright gave a delightful duet.

Following the program the guests were invited into the dining room, which had been cleverly decorated with Hallowe'en suggestions, and lunch was served by the ladies of the Aid society.

BORDEN CLASS HAS GHOST PARTY

The East Brock Grange Hall was the scene of a merry gathering Friday evening when a large number of "ghosts" gathered for a Hallowe'en party. There were tall ghosts and short ghosts, fat ghosts and thin ghosts assembled among the corn stalks, the black cats, the witches and the goblins which were used in a clever manner in decorations of the hall.

All kinds of spooky stories, games and stunts were indulged in and numerous prizes were awarded the winners in the various contests. Radio furnished the music for the event and at the close of a strenuous evening the members were served a delicious supper with Mrs. L. A. Sowash, assisted by Mrs. Joseph B. Brettell, Mr. and Mrs. Neill Rounds, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Hoye and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ball in charge.

Interesting Event

Mrs. L. A. Sowash and Mrs. H. K. Bell were joint hostesses Friday evening at the former's home on Garfield avenue at a social evening in honor of Mrs. Carrie Fink Swanson, recently returned from an extended visit in the states of Washington and California. The home was prettily decorated in keeping with the Hallowe'en season and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner with Hallowe'en games and diversions, the means of entertainment. An interesting feature of the evening was the story of her trip, which included visits to points of interest in British Columbia, and Mt. Rainier as told by Mrs. Swanson, who also displayed many pictures and other souvenirs of the places visited and the interesting sights which she saw. At the close of Mrs. Swanson's story, Mr. Tadd Kiker added most fittingly to the evening's enjoyment by reciting a selection on "The Road That Leads Home". At a seasonable hour, dainty refreshments in keeping with the Hallowe'en season were served by Mrs. Sowash, assisted by Mrs. Bell. Those present were Mrs. Carrie Fink Swanson, the honor guest, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fink, Mr. and Mrs. Tadd Kiker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Withers, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Bell and children, King and Mary Ann, Mrs. Ida B. Bell, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sowash and son Jack.

J. G. A. Club

Mrs. Bertha Blews of Croton avenue extended hospitality to members of the J. G. A. Club in her home Friday evening, marking another of their regular meetings. A business session opened the program, when three new members were taken in. They are Mrs. Anna Book, Mrs. Emma Loyoy and Mrs. Andrew Fair. Plans were also completed for a theatre party on October 30th.

The social hours were spent in sewing, radio music and chat. At a seasonable hour, a dainty lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Cora Belle Allen, Mrs. Cooley was a special guest at the gathering.

The next hostess will be Mrs. H. W. Cramer when she will entertain in two weeks in her home on Finch street.

Has Masque Party

Martha Coulter of Harrison street entertained her class from the Second United Presbyterian church at a masquerade party and varied were the characters presented when the guests arrived.

Mrs. A. J. Randles and Ida Belle Cotton were winners of prizes in the games and contests which featured the entertainment and at a late hour the hostess, assisted by her mother, served delicious refreshments to Dorothy Baldwin, Marguerite Hoffman, Dorothy Allen, Dorothy Harris, Ida Belle Cotton, Dorothy Montgomery, Martha Coulter, Betty Young and the teacher, Mrs. A. J. Randles.

Entertains At Bridge

Mrs. R. W. Harris of Temple avenue was a pleasing hostess Friday evening when she entertained a group of friends at bridge in her home.

The house was cleverly decorated in Hallowe'en suggestions and two tables of bridge featured the evening hours with prizes for high score going to Mrs. L. A. Ray and Mrs. L. W. McClung.

Gifford Pinchot Tired Out
From Hectic Campaign
Rests In Pittsburgh

TO CONFER WITH PARTY LEADERS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Former Governor Gifford Pinchot, visibly tired from the effects of the past week of campaigning, today was resting in Pittsburgh, having brought to a close his tour of Western Pennsylvania counties.

Conferences with Allegheny county political leaders were to be held today, Pinchot expects to remain here over tomorrow.

"The Philadelphia Gang has placed itself in a position where it must stand or fall on this election," Pinchot declared in an address at McKeesport last night. "If Hemphill were elected they would control the state government from top to bottom. But, if I know the temperament of the people of this state, I am going back to Harrisburg and the days of the 'Gang' are numbered."

Pinchot Pays Tribute

Pinchot paid tribute to Vance McCormick, William B. Wilson, John A. McSparran and Judge Eugene Bonniwell, prominent democrats and former gubernatorial nominees of their party who are backing his candidacy he declared, that "No one can deny they were actuated by the highest and most serious motives. If they had believed the election of Hemphill would be good for Pennsylvania they would have continued to fight for the Democratic Party Ticket."

"Each in his public statement has made it perfectly clear that his refusal to support Hemphill is due to his conviction that the issue in the campaign is not the eighteenth amendment but the question as to whether the state government shall be turned over, lock, stock and barrel, to the sordid interests backing Hemphill—The Philadelphia Gang."

Fire In City Dump Battled By Firemen For Over Two Hours

An old-time city dump that has caused trouble to firemen in the past again called for attention Friday afternoon. When No. 4 Station was called to stop a fire in the old Wolf swamp dump, Dean Park.

Firemen, directed by Fire Chief Lynn worked for over two hours before the fire was finally extinguished. A line of hose 650 feet in length was connected to a hydrant on Florence avenue.

Lynn said a bon fire started by boys in the community, caused the leaves and rubbish in the dump to ignite.

It won't do to recognize Russia. Suppose Americans got the habit of shooting public enemies.

Winter Auto Care Called Essential For Good Results

Motor Club Head Believes
Good Care Important To Pleasant Motoring

Cool weather should serve to focus the attention of the car owner on the need for preparing the automobile for the winter months ahead, according to R. W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Bolsinger pointed out that the motorist should give particular attention to the cooling and ignition systems in order to insure pleasant motoring during cold weather.

"The first step," he continued, "is to cleanse the cooling system. It should be flushed preferably with a solution containing soda, and thoroughly tightened. After this is done an anti-freeze solution should be put in for the winter. There will be no trouble in finding a mercurial product that will serve throughout the cold weather.

"Of equal importance is attention to the ignition system. The battery, which has probably felt the strain of summer driving, may need recharging. The generator should also be checked to see that it is charging properly in order to keep the battery up to maximum strength."

The A. A. A. executive asserted that the carburetor will in all probability need adjusting due to the changed weather conditions and the subsequent need for the proper mixture of fuel. This will also serve to make the car easier to start.

"Minimum care at this season will save maximum costs later," he added.

Tilla for damages growing out of an automobile accident, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand in Lawrence County court, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $460.80. The case was one in which Rocco, who was assisting to fasten his car, which was in a ditch on the Ellwood road, to a wrecker, was struck by Tilla's car. Rocco was squeezed between his car and the wrecker.

REPLEVIN WRIT TO RECOVER AUTOMOBILE

Stolen Iron Found
By Local Officers

J. B. Thorson on Friday reported to the police that approximately three tons of old iron, which had been salvaged by Michael Mulcahy, contractor, in taking up the rails of the Harmony Line and placed temporarily on Cascade street, had been stolen.

Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch had charge of the investigation and finally located the stolen iron in a Center street junk yard, where it had been purchased in good faith from the thieves, who employed a truck in getting it to the junk yard.

The persons stealing the iron and selling it are known and indications are, the police say, that arrests will be made in the case.

First Issue Of Lincoln School Paper Presented

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 25.—The first number of the Lincoln school paper was issued Friday and is a fine appearing specimen of four pages of glossy paper, with various types of news appearing in its well-printed pages.

The paper is being printed once each week, and the editors are members of the Student Council.
Editorial comments are to be noted regarding the Grading System. Joining the P. S. P. A. and a paragraph or two on "sportsmanship" asking the co-operation of the student body with regard to high school athletics.

The only drawback to the paper is that it bears no name. There is a contest of sorts going to in an earnest effort to secure a good snapshot name to place at the head of the front page.

Enjoyable Manner On Friday Night

play given Friday night in the Wurtemberg U. P. church by the young people, was enjoyed by a large audience and very successfully produced.

The name "Mr. Bob" lead the part would be taken by a young man, but action of the play revealed that the part was being taken by a young woman. The entire cast was letter perfect, and the two-act comedy was well-worth viewing. The balance of the cast

Katherine, Her Niece—Miss Irene
Falen
"Mr. Bob"—Miss Mary Worces-

LEARNING, WHILE A CAPTIVE OF THE SHAWNEES, THAT THE BRITISH AND INDIANS WERE PREPARING TO ATTACK BOONESBOROUGH AND HARRODSBURG, BOONE AIDED JOHNSON, A FELLOW PRISONER, TO ESCAPE TO WARN THE SETTLERS OF THEIR DANGER (MAY, 1778). ---

Army And Yale Set For Titanic Grid Game Today

(International News Service)
 NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 25.—In the picturesque setting of the Yale Bowl, two powerful eleven—Army and Yale, will clash this afternoon before 75,000 cheering fans in a game that promises to be replete with action and thrills. The teams are so evenly matched that betting today was at even money.

This is the most colorful game on Yale's attractive schedule because of the military pomp the presence of 1,200 uniformed West Point Cadets will give it, and it ranks second in importance to the annual Yale-Harvard contest. The parade of the Cadets before the game is in itself an inspiring spectacle and one of the reasons the bowl is a "sell out."

It is reasonable to infer that by that merger of safety-razor concerns cut-throat competition has been avoided.—The Lowell Evening Leader.

Dartmouth-Harvard In Contest Today

(International News Service)
 BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Dartmouth's big green machine ruled a 10 to 7 favorite today as the boys of Hanover clashed with Harvard in one of New England's football classics. A crowd of 55,000 was expected to witness this afternoon's battle.

A year ago it was Alton Marsters, the Arlington antelope, who left the Crimson dazed and dizzy with his knee-jolting hip-swishing Berserk climax runs. But this green team has a whole hatful of Marsters. That's what going to make it difficult for Horween and his huskies this trip. They never will know where the shot will come from.

Geneva Scores Extra-Point To Take Measure Of Undeclared Grove City Team

COVENANTORS FLASH POWERFUL ATTACK

REEVES STADIUM, BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 25.—Before a packed stadium of football fans here last night, the powerful Geneva College team turned in a real Tri-State District upset when they nosed out Grove City College's heretofore undefeated machine 13 to 12. It was by virtue of an extra-point that the Harpster eleven had the edge over the men of Berry.

Grove City tallied their first touchdown on straight football, and their second one came when Gregory intercepted a Geneva lateral pass. Alexander was the man who tallied the initial Grove City marker.

Ewing Is Star

Earl Ewing was the outstanding star of the game, the flashy Geneva backfield man was everywhere, passing the ball, catching passes, skirting the ends, and leading the way on the offense when his teammates were carrying the ball. It was a pass from Grahame to Ewing that gave the Geneva team that much needed extra-point, the slippery halfback catching the ball and going over the line with two Grove City men draped on his neck. Johnny Knapic also played a bang-up game for the Valley team.

Grove City looked woefully weak against the aerial attack of the Geneva team. Once in the air the Grove City team passed out of the picture entirely.

The Berry coached machine really entered the game on the long end of the line.

Gridiron Gossip

This afternoon at New Wilmington, Westminster and Slippery Rock Teachers College football teams, are having a grid combat. The game is interesting due to the fact that Teachers are boastful of their team, and freely predict that they are going to take the measure of the Titans, but Coach Beede and his eleven huskies will have something to say about that. The game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

The real upset of the Tri-State district occurred last night at Beaver Falls, when Geneva nosed out Grove City 13 to 12, in a sizzling contest. The Grovers scored twice with Alexander and Gregory carrying the ball over, but the Crimson boys could not gain an extra-point, whereas the Harpster coached outfit tallied twice and made good on an extra-point try. Alexander former New Castle boy played a fine game for Grove City. The Crimson team entered the game the favorites.

Thiel College broke into the winning column for the first time last night at Johnstown, when they downed St. Vincents 20 to 0. The Greenville team playing under flood-lights for the first time opened with a powerful attack that smothered the Latobroers in all departments. When the game ended the St. Vincents team had the ball on the Thiel 4-yard line. The feature play of the game was when Myers intercepted a pass and raced 35 yards for a marker.

Duquesne University met a tough customer last night in Catholic University, the Pittsburgh boys winning 13 to 0. Pawlina and Devinney tallied for the Dukes. The Washington team put up a great game, but they were no match for the men of Layden. DeCarbo former New Castle boy started at guard for Duquesne.

Bessemer Defeats Shenango High 13-0

Bessemer high chalked up another Class B football game to their list of victories Friday at Bessemer when they defeated Shenango High 13 to 0. Bessemer scored their points in the first half. Shenango braced in the second half after Bessemer substitutes were sent into the game. The game was played on the new Bessemer field, amid rain, sleet and snow.

Shenango kicked off and Bessemer started a series of end runs and plunges that sent Bessemer to Shenango's 30 yard line where Bessemer lost the ball. Shenango was held for downs and kicked. After Bessemer had skirted the ends and advanced through the line, Grist carried the ball over for a touchdown. The attempt for the extra point failed.

The second touchdown came in the second quarter from a beautiful lateral pass from Puromaki to Grist who raced 35 yards and put the ball over the line. Stanley plunged across the line for the extra point. The half ended before any additional scores could be chalked up and when the second half started Bessemer sent a list of substitutes into the game.

Shenango Braces.

The game zig-zagged to and fro with Bessemer gaining the most ground and keeping the ball in Shenango's territory. Shenango executed several good forward passes but they were mostly for short gains. Each team was held for downs and forced to kick. On their eight yard line Shenango proved a stonewall and Bessemer lost the ball.

Shenango kicked off to danger the ball going to their 35 yard line. Bessemer ran the piskin back to the 25 yard line, tossed a pass which netted them five yards and they were heading for Shenango's danger zone when the final whistle blew.

Grist, Stanley and Simonza carried the brunt of Bessemer's attack while Kelly, Arnold and Brown stood out prominently for Shenango which had a lighter line than Bessemer. In the second half Stanley carried the ball repeatedly for Bessemer.

The lineup—

Panthers-Irish Battling Today At Pitt Stadium

Undeclared Pitt Eleven Will Get Severest Test Of Season Today

NOTRE DAME TEAM FAVORED TO WIN

By GEORGE E. DOYING
 International News Service Sports Writer

PITT STADIUM, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Unbeaten and unscored on, eleven unnamed Panthers sporting the colors of the University of Pittsburgh, take the field here today against an equal number of fighting Irish representing the hopes of Knute Rockne and Notre Dame in an intersectional football battle unanimously termed a "Natural."

Perfect football weather was forecast this afternoon. The weather man announced that topcats, 75-80 of them, would be in order and that old sol would beam down upon the ceremonies.

Every available inch of space in this huge stadium was expected to be packed by game time. Temporary bleachers for 10,000 have been added to the stadium which itself was built to house 65,000. It was to be a colorful assemblage and a colorful game.

Notre Dame Favored
 The Irish have been made the favorites by the pre-game dopsters but it would be impossible to convince any "home-towner" of the veracity of that prediction. Betting was most-ly at odds of 10 to 7. South Bend backers holding the edge.

Pitt holds four victories this season in as many tries and has yet to allow an opponent to carry the ball over its goal line. The Panthers' most notable victory was over Syracuse last week, 14 to 0. Syracuse, until then, had not been scored upon.

Rockne landed in Pittsburgh yesterday with 37 of his multitudinous Notre Dame football squad, all well groomed for the battle. Four complete backfields and three complete lines made almost any starting combination possible.

Today is the day that will answer whether Jock Sutherland was right or wrong. He picked his Pitt team to lose to Knute Rockne's Notre Dame.

Emmit Rocco will wind up heavy training this afternoon then rest until Monday night when he meets George Panka in a 10 round bout at Pittsburgh.

Al Capone May Realize Dream As Racket Czar

Removal of Aiello and Moran Leaves Path Clear For "Scarface" Al

"BUGS" MORAN IS MARKED FOR DEATH

Chicago Police Hunt Gunmen Who Mowed Down Millionaire Racketeer

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Alphonse Capone's golden dream of complete domination of Chicago's alcohol and racket world today apparently had reached its realization with the murder of Joe Aiello and the removal of George "Bugs" Moran, Capone's two most bitter enemies.

The long war for supremacy of the north side racket and alcohol territory brought the assassination of Aiello, millionaire alcohol "king," Thursday night when the gang leader stepped into a machine gun ambush which left his dead body riddled with 90 steel-jacketed bullets. Moran, sole remaining leader of the once powerful Aiello-Moran-Zuta forces, was returned from exile to face vagrancy charges, but was released on bond. Moran, threatened with death, is reported to be planning to abdicate and leave the Capone forces in charge. Aiello was slain to halt a plot to kill Capone and put the Moran gang back in control of the city's major gangster enterprises, police were informed.

According to the underworld grapevine, Moran and Aiello planned the "last stand" coup at Moran's hideaway at Bemidji, Minn., but one of the conspirators, fearful of failure, informed Teddy Newberry, Capone lieutenant.

Both Moran and Aiello were marked for death when the plot became known. It was reported, and police here believe Moran brought about his own arrest in Lake County when he informed that Capone gunmen had trailed him to the resort at Bluff Lake where he was seized.

Six gunmen of the Capone gang were being sought today in connection with Aiello's murder. Among them was "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, indicted but later freed of charges of complicity in the St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven of Moran's musketeers. Fred Burke wanted in a score of Middle West cities for murder and robbery, was another who witnesses believe they recognized as members of the machine gun crews.

Likewise authorities were searching for Patsy Presto, Aiello's host Thursday night, who fled after the machine gunning. Police believe Presto may have known of the plot to kill the gang chief, for it was at Presto's doorstep that the raking machine gun fire cut Aiello down from four directions.

Eight Small Boys Given Autographs By "Lindy" Today

Colonel Lindbergh Breaks Iron Club Rule And Autographs Envelopes For Boys

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh broke his rule of refusing to give his autograph, for the first time, here today.

Eight small boys, all crippled, spotted the Colonel at the inaugural of the new all-air transcontinental route. The Colonel was engaged in a business conversation.

The youngsters, hampered by steel braces and crutches, struggled in the crowd of 500 to approach their hero. Lindbergh saw their plight and quickly excused himself to the air line officials.

He shouldered his way to the boys and as they surrounded him eagerly, the Colonel autographed an envelope for each of them.

No one at the field could recall Lindbergh ever before having given his autograph.

Two Transcontinental Passenger Planes Leave Los Angeles Today

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—Bearing Postmaster-General Brown, officials of the line and a capacity load of mail, the three planes blazing the new coast to coast mail-passenger route of Trans-Continental Western Air Inc., landed at Harrisburg airport here today and took off for Pittsburgh, next stop on the flight from Newark, N. J.

The first ship zoomed in at 10:20 and took off again at 10:30 a. m. which were delayed a trifle in leaving the Camden airport where the first stop of the flight was made. It landed at 10:32 and 10:50 a. m. respectively and hopped off westward at 10:51 and 11:02 a. m.

Except for stiff headwinds, which kept them a bit behind schedule, the three pilots reported flying conditions "excellent."

MONDAY—NAVY, ROOSEVELT DAY

On Monday, October 27, 1930, the nation will observe the 72nd anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president of the United States.

Theodore Roosevelt possessed a vivid, inspiring personality. His talents were varied and he used them in many ways with stupendous energy. As a delicate boy he built a strong constitution by correct habits and careful training. As a student he applied himself diligently and acquitted himself with high honor at college. He mingled much with people and learned to sympathize with all classes. He was a traveler who learned at first hand about the world and its peoples. As a sportsman and observer of nature, he gathered a great fund of information which enabled him to add to the scientific knowledge of plant and animal life. He was a writer of history and so learned and told the story of his own country, its great men, its achievements and its possibilities for progress.

He served his country faithfully as law maker, police commissioner, assistant secretary of the navy, soldier governor of his state, vice president and finally, while yet a comparatively young man, filled the great office of president. He succeeded because he had talent, because he carefully trained all his powers for service, because he applied himself to every duty with intensive energy, because he was ever willing to sacrifice self in the service of others, and because he kept himself clean and his ideals high. His life is an inspiration to all citizens and a model for the youth of our country. On the same day, the Navy League of the United States will celebrate "Navy Day." It is appropriate that the name of Roosevelt should be linked with this branch of our national service. It was as assistant secretary of the navy at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war that he arose to national prominence. He was ever solicitous of the honor and welfare of the navy, and it might be appropriately said that his service to it was in accordance with its best traditions. It was under his direction that the American battleships circumnavigated the globe. While we are commemorating the memory of Roosevelt, let us respond to the call to remember the navy and the part it has played in protecting and preserving us as a nation.

Government To Halt Dismissal Of Any Workers To Cut Overtime At Post Offices And Use Substitutes For Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The federal government has taken concrete steps to stem the tide of unemployment as the Hoover cabinet committee set up to handle the problem began functioning.

Coinciding with a call from Colonel Arthur Woods, the relief director, asking industry to cooperate, government departments announced plans to provide employment to a number of the 3,500,000 idle Americans.

The postoffice department took steps to suspend overtime work to regular employees in order that substitutes may obtain employment. Plans of the shipping board to reduce its domestic force by 500 and its foreign personnel by 250 in its reorganization program have been abandoned to prevent an increase in the number of jobless.

Secretary Hurley moved to have the army engineers adopt the "stagger system" of employment on rivers and harbors work, particularly along the Mississippi river. He also is seeking cooperation of contractors to aid in increasing the number of jobs on certain projects.

Although Chairman Legge of the farm board noted that the agency had no means of disposing of the wheat purchased in stabilization operations to aid the unemployed, he said in response to questions, that if congress wished to pay for the wheat, the board would be glad to turn it over to the jobless.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Charles J. Wolf, former mayor of Melrose Park, suburb, was held in $25,000 bond today on a warrant charging embezzlement of $80,000 following the closing of the Citizens' State bank of Melrose Park of which Wolf was president.

Two warrants were sworn out for Wolf, a former mayor of the suburb, after State Auditor Oscar Nelson examined the bank's records. The bank was closed by bank examiners following a long, slow ruin which had been in progress for several months.

High School Band Boy Hit By Auto

Apparently escapes Serious Injury In Mixup On West Washington Street

(International News Service)

John Hill, aged 15, a member of the Senior High School band, was struck this morning on West Washington street by the automobile of Paul E. Duffy, while driven by Mrs. Mary R. Duffy, as he went around a street car from which he had just disembarked but apparently according to police reports, he escaped injuries and continued on to Washington, Pa., with the band.

Mrs. Duffy was enroute west on West Washington near the Pennsylvania post, as a street car enroute west stopped to allow a number of boys of the high school band to get off. The Hill boy went to the front of the street car and started across Washington street.

As he did so Mrs. Duffy started around to the left of the street car to pass it and her machine struck and knocked the boy to the pavement. He got up himself and insisted that he was uninjured and refused the services of a physician in spite of the efforts of Mrs. Duffy to have him do so. He went on to Washington with the band.

More Guard Units In Prospect For Armistice Day

Butler And Grove City Units May Arrange To Be Here On November 11

Armistice Day as observed here November 11 by the former service men and women of Lawrence, Butler and Mercer counties gives promise each day of becoming bigger and better.

Two National Guard Units, Troop F of this city and the Field Artillery Unit and Combat Train of Ellwood City are assured.

Word from Butler is to the effect that the Machine Gun and Medical Company Units of Butler will be here, the American Legion and citizens making arrangements for the transportation of the unit members to this city.

In addition there is a possibility of the Grove City Units also coming, the only question being apparently, as to how these units may be transported here to take part.

Unusual Scenes In Decorating Of Local Apartment

The unusual in interior and exterior decoration may now be seen at the W. S. Culbertson apartment house on W. Washington street and is the work of the owner and H. T. Amberson.

Mr. Culbertson in redecorating his apartment, has himself grained the entrance doors in a delightful manner. On one may be seen a rabbit in full flight with a hound in close pursuit. On the other is another rabbit running and also a life-like squirrel.

Mr. Amberson's share in the improvement, is the placing of life-like gorgeously colored scenes and trimmings on the walls and the color scheme are carried out in a fascinating manner.

Hallow'en Parties Hold Stage In City During Week As Strange Sights And Sound Are Welcomed

New Castle's young and old are preparing to make the time-honored festival that comes on October 31, the merriest kind of a fete, with all sorts of fates to lure the invited guests.

Many of the affairs will not only be given before the date but those who are entertaining at dinner, tea or for supper on the 31st will take advantage of the opportunity to use the fascinating favors, nut cups and centerpieces that have been prepared with such glowing hues or orange and yellow.

Ornament the invitation with black cat or pumpkin seals and use one on the envelope.

Crepe papers will greatly aid the hostess in decorating as many of them make excellent cutouts for using around the room and for pinning on.

Of course, there must be an apple bob, and to add zest in a few insert some bright new pennies, a rubber apron and a bathing cap will add fun to those who attempt this stunt. Others may wish to try their luck by tacking apples suspended in a doorway.

Before the tub is removed here is a pretty way to try out the future: Give each one a half of a walnut shell containing a wee lighted candle; silently the boys name a girl and the girl names her best beau; if the boys sail close together on this "Sea of Destiny" and the candle flame burns clear, the fates show a clear path to love and fortune; if they sail apart and the lights go out, the reverse fate is assured.

Staff Crippled In Stable, But Young Corporal Does Best

Stable Sergeant Percy J. Young and his assistant, Henry Robinson were both ill Friday and the West Side stables of Troop F with their 33 horses were under the care of Corporal William Hemming, who was drafted into service when a hurry call was issued.

Arriving in the stable building the corporal studied the situation. At about the same time the animals thought the matter over too, in their own peculiar way, it appears. There would be no trouble, Corporal Hemming concluded.

"Babe," young dark bay, whose matchless performance on the stage of the cathedral recently in "Odds" brought no little applause at the time is a fine cavalry horse. But the substitution of the corporal did not appeal to her. Released from her stall, "Babe" took a playful leap over the water trough and landed in an enclosure on the other side.

The corporal called to Sgt. Knight, ill with the grip, restored the peace in the stable by lifting the trough and freeing "Babe."

Mrs. Mary Wadsworth Recalls Pioneer Days Observing 90th Birthday

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wadsworth, at the home of her daughter Mrs. W. K. Allison, 502 Whippo street, is today quietly but happily observing the ninetieth anniversary of her birth which occurred October 25, 1840 on her parents farm, about a mile from the town of Slippery Rock, Butler county.

There is only one thing, she said today, that in any way interfered with her enjoyment of the anniversary or life in general, and that is the handicap of poor eyesight, due to cataracts that have dimmed but not completely done away with her sight.

The memory of Mrs. Wadsworth is wonderful, when one considers her advanced years and the today recalled the murder of the Wigton family by the Indian Mohawk, which occurred when she was between twelve and fifteen years of age.

There were plenty of Indians in this section in those days, she stated, but Mohawk had imbibed too freely of firewater at the old Stone House as it was known.

The father of the Wigton family had left his wife and five children alone at home while he went away for a short time to secure a cradle to cradle his wheat.

Mohawk happened along and crazed by the drink, killed Mrs. Wigton and all the children. The youngest child, a baby boy, was the last and its fate was determined by Mohawk by throwing a stone in some water. There were bubbles and that was the sign to him to kill the baby boy.

When the father returned home and found his murdered family, he at once took up the trail and was himself stoned by Mohawk, who finally was cornered by Mr. Wigton and others in the Paul Keister home a mile away.

Her father, Henry Wolford, was a pioneer in the district and settled in the forests on three hundred acres. He raised sheep and made charcoal and it was by this means that he paid for his home.

There were plenty of wolves, deer, bear and all kinds of wild animals in the vicinity of her home.

Times have changed greatly during her lifetime. They had oxen to do the farm work at first. They had to ride a horse to mill or town. They finally secured a wagon to travel with. They walked four and five miles to church and to school.

Her husband died about four years ago and up until that time she was a resident of the Butler county district in which she was born and attended to her household. She feels today that she could do so, if her eyesight were better. She would be happier if she could be busy.

She has ridden in an automobile although not without some thought of her safety but is not inclined to think well of airplanes, which she has seen but never ridden in.

When questioned with regard to the present day smoking by women, she was not too critical, because as she said, she had an aunt, who smoked her corn cob pipe, but it never had appealed to her.

Mrs. Wadsworth expressed the opinion that people of the earlier days were harder and more friendly than those of the present day, because, as she sees it, when they had secured a home and some comforts of life, they found satisfaction in the same, while now, nobody apparently is satisfied or content to have enough but wants more and more.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Wave Of Buying Sends Stock Prices Upward

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Cheerfulness in the stock market instilled by Friday's brilliant advances in the speculative leaders was still in evidence today. New gains of 1 to 3 points were scored by the active industrial and the best prices of the week were recorded for United States Steel, Westinghouse, General Electric and American Can.

A spurt of speculative buying at the outset forced Westinghouse up 3 points to 111, United States Steel to above 152 and American Can to 121. Further evidence was seen of the lightening of the load of liquidation which has been depressing the markets for the last two weeks and stock market leaders expressed the opinion that underlying conditions in the stock market were excellent.

Week-end business reviews reported a slow and hesitant tone in most lines, with a more pronounced tendency toward improvement in Steel manufacturing and building construction.

Profit-taking which appeared in the industrial stocks and Ralls in the second hour was well absorbed and new forward movements were scored by the best grade industrial and Utility stocks in narrow and restricted trading. The list was held back by a tapering off in buying demand in the short week-end session.

General Motors continued to lead the moderate upward move of the automobile stocks, and reached a new high on the move at 37 1/2. Auburn auto rallied further and DuPont recovered two points of its recent losses.

Reports that the Steel mills would step-up mill operations next week were received with considerable satisfaction in the financial district. Cotton prices advanced nearly a dollar a bale, bringing the March option back to 11 1/2 cents a pound.

Trading in the stock market slowed down to a snail's pace in the second hour and the market as whole was unusually dull.

Steeplejacks Stay Up In Spite Of Nasty Weather

Towering at the wind-blown, dizzy heights above West Washington street today, two sure-footed steeplejacks were tearing down the uppermost notch of the First Christian church spire while interested groups of spectators watched their every move from below. In charge was Carl Becker, dean of the steeplejacks here.

Workmen said the old wooden ball which topped the steeple was being removed, to be substituted with an elaborate bronze one. A short distance below the steeplejacks were expert clock men installing the new $5,000 electric clock.

In but a few days the First Christian congregation will stage its 75th anniversary celebration, and for that reason the steeple work was being rushed as fast as possible. To this end, an additional climber and Carl Becker himself will ascend the spire to speed the job this afternoon.

Becker has not as yet gone up this time, although on different occasions he has scaled the upturn conical-shaped steeple.

All of the slate has been removed for the new roofing which will be laid in its place.

After completion the public square edifice, renovated throughout, will stand as one of the finest equipped churches in this part of the state. The extensive repair program was inaugurated several months ago.

This is the time of the year when thousands of European tourists are coming back to America to catch up on their drinking.

Rapidly nearing completion, the new $25,000 building of the McComb Dairy Company, Euclid and Wilmington avenue, will be a model pasteurizing and bottling plant.

Thomas R. McComb of 1010 Wilmington avenue, owner of the dairy company, stated that the building, a two-story brick, will be ready for occupancy in the middle of November. At the present time the exterior brick work is completed.

Martin Ketola of this city is the contractor.

The building faces 130 feet on Euclid and 85 feet on Wilmington. The new building will contain the pasteurizing and bottling plant on the first floor, two store rooms, two apartments and a gas service station.

Women Of Central Church Entertain Almira Home Ladies

An interesting afternoon was given by the ladies of the Almira Home Friday when the Women's Missionary society of the Central Presbyterian church went to the home and presented a program for the residents there.

Mrs. H. Mathias was general chairman of arrangements and Mrs. E. Hart, president of the society presided over the meeting, opening with a hymn by the society.

Mrs. Marjorie Wingard gave a reading, which was well received and Mrs. Hart also had a reading. Mrs. William Finerock and Miss Blanche Bright gave a vocal duet, accompanied by Mrs. Ben Jenkins. Mrs. Schneider had a reading and several request songs were sung for the aged ladies, almost all of them having a favorite song they wanted to hear.

At the close of the program each lady of the home was served a delicious tray lunch, prepared and served by Mrs. Minnie Mayers, Mrs. Frances Mersheimer, Mrs. J. T. Houlette, Mrs. Oscar Rhodes and Mrs. J. N. McCandless, assisted by Mrs. Sloan, matron of the home.

Fellow Rotarians:
Have you written your will? If you have not, postpone writing it until after Monday. We will all learn how to write a will correctly when Bill Hughes talks on the subject of "Wills and Trusts."

This will be a talk that you cannot afford to miss. The present day plan of having trust companies administer your estate is an interesting angle in writing wills.

On Peculiarities Of Criminals

The Hold-up of Robbery of a Stillwater (Minn.) Bank in the 80's. Regarded at the Time as Very Brazen.

The following paragraphs relating to criminals are some of their peculiarities were written by Constable New Plum, whose intimacy with law violators covers a period of forty years.

Major crimes used to be few and widely scattered, the few west claim in all of the darwinian picturesque misdeeds. In the late eighties mounted outlaws, almost outnumbered the residents, robbed a little one-story frame bank at Stillwater, Minnesota, an' shot their way to safety with someh'n like $350. It wuz a daylight job an' its brazenness rocked the country, an' even as far east as Penobscot, Maine, folks wuz afraid to venture forth after sun down for many months afterward.

Blinky Joe, bein' held here fer New Jersey wuzn't stand a car if there's any babies asleep in the back seat.

Stew Nugent, now doin' ten to twenty, never fails to visit his aged mother at Christmas time, no matter how many cities want him.

Fatherly lookin' Fenton Morgan, alias The Parson, internationally noted confidence man, who I released to Rhode Island last week, don't smoke, chew or drink, an' only uses coffee if he's goin' to a virtuous concert. His first false step came at the age of fourteen when he embarked in the lightning rod business.

Jim Benton, convicted o' slay' has wife an' children with a sod tamper, don't eat starches or use corn-diments. He reads in bed, preferin' the North American Review.

Oscar Cross, alias Gerald Leigh, an' Archibald Mount Severin, won't attack grocers over seventy.

The most cunning criminals alius pull a better sooner or later. A long sought an' famous check raiser wuz at last run down an' wuz held in an eastern city. One day he asked the sheriff for a railroad time card. The sheriff, growin' suspicious, made a careful survey o' the jail an' found four window bars saved off an' ready fer removal.

George Thoma, a noted pearl thief an' insurance swindler, wuz regarded as the cruellest murderer of his time. He'd save up his victims much the same as a school boy saves an apple, often engagin' 'em in a game o' croquet just before quarter 'em fer shipment.

Opportunity is a big factor in crime. Many of us are rated as model citizens. The fact is we've never had a real good chance to make a cleanin'. There's many instances of beloved an' honored citizens fleelin' at seventy-five an' even eighty, leavin' ruin an' desolation in their wake.

Some bandits are never satisfied an' it's often their undoin'. Eddie the Bum got away from an Ohio bank with a cool $40,000 an' the next evenin' I winged him as he wuz backin' away from the Owl fillin' station with $170.

Lefty Pete, a celebrated fu an' lingerie thief, told me the biggest kick he got wuz readin' the newspapers after a neat job jest to see what the police had to say. He alius clipped his writeups an' sent 'em to his mother who kept a prized scrap book full of his operations.

If Gus, the Pennan, had taken up the cornet at fifteen instead of goin' to work fer a brokerage firm he'd be a free man today. He's perhaps the world's greatest cornetist an' has led a prison band fer thirty-one years.

Limpy Al, with a long list of pay roll jobs to his credit, is gun shy an' allus uses a tire gauge fer a gat.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

About this time of day, New Castle, like the Gaul mentioned in Caesar's Commentaries is divided into three parts. One part is in Pittsburgh at the Pitt-Notre Dame game, another is in Washington at the New Castle-Washington game, and the third is at home. Somebody had to stay home and perhaps "it had to be you."

While his mates are down in Washington fighting it out, Fred Fabian, plucky little halfback of the New Castle High school team is in the hospital, fighting to recover from an accident on the practice field. The youngster was severely injured and in an effort to aid him, an operation was performed last night in the New Castle Hospital.

Pabian is the Martyr Brail of the high school team. Because he has not carried the ball as often as some of the other backs, some of the fans had the idea that he was just in there to fill up. As a matter of fact he has been an invaluable back, a "blocking back" if you care to put it that way. Plenty of those holes that opened up for McAuley, or Laskey or Thomas to gallop through were made by Fabian who not heavy in weight had the courage of a young lion. Here's wishing him a speedy recovery. And if you happen to want to do something nice for him, drop the youngster a post card wishing him well.

It's nice to read those things Jack Sutherland said about Alec Fox as a guard at Pitt. It has always been my opinion that the pickers of All-American teams missed a bet when they left Alec off the first string team. He didn't shine one particular thing, he was an all-around star, but that modesty which marked him off the field may have had something to do with the oversight.

Sometimes a newspaper man wonders if folks read the paper. Sitting here last night pounding the old mill, trying to fill this column, the telephone rang twice and the following conversation ensued.

"This the News?"

"Yes."

"What's the score?"

"What score?"

"The football score?"

"What football score?"

"New Castle and Washington."

Is it any wonder if newspaper men go around scaring little children at times or biting holes in the family dinner table?

The New Castle branch of the Needlework Guild is planning its annual ingathering and also is after new members. Of all the charitable organizations I know, this one is closer to being 100 per cent charitable than any of the rest. Overhead just doesn't exist. There are no dues no entrance requirements, no committee to look up your personal history, or your family record. Your grandfathers didn't have to fight in any war to belong, and it makes no difference whether your husband runs a bank or a truck. All that is necessary is to contribute two new garments to the Guild each November.

These garments are distributed to the various charitable organizations and they in turn put the clothes where they will do the most good. Whatever the membership of the Guild is, it should be twice that much.

HILLSVILLE

Lewis Hill was visiting in Poland Thursday.

Nick Navarra of New Castle was visiting relatives here Friday.

Miss Dye, who was absent from school, is again able to teach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grose and son Linford were recent New Castle visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Quinley left Friday for an extended motor trip to Cincinnati and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stoner and family have moved from Fox avenue to the M. E. parsonage on Main street.

Services Sunday at Methodist church: Sunday school at 10:15 a. m. Preaching service 11:15 a. m. No evening service, Rev. Minnich, pastor.

The funeral of Mrs. Patsy Colucci was held from her late home here a large crowd of friends and relatives gathered to show their respect for the deceased. There were a large number of floral tributes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gilmore and Mrs. Della Murphy attended the Republican meeting at New Castle on Thursday and had the pleasure of a short interview with the Republican candidate for governor, Gifford Pinchot.

"Five cases tried in Federal court," says a muffled-up headline. Staying there so long is what tries them.
